Qiana Pierre

COMSC-122-01 Java Programming Language

March 7th 2021

Reflection

This exercise has helped me grasp a better understanding of static versus dynamic types and inheritance. By thinking of polymorphism it was easier to understand the idea of abstract class. However, I did have a few problems with creating the child class from a child class with Square and Rectangle. I think another example would help me understand it a bit better.